

Agricultural software. A clear path for company participation.

FarmerMind brings agricultural decision-support tools and reviewed company information into its product ecosystem. This overview describes the company portal and keeps software availability separate from advertising participation.

For farmers and agricultural teams

FarmerMind develops Windows and Android agricultural software. Available tools and features depend on the edition and release. Offline records and cached information can remain useful without a connection; fresh online information, downloads and synchronization require connectivity. Check the current product page and your installed version before relying on a feature.

For agricultural companies

An authorized representative signs in and submits company identity, service areas, products or services, contact information and supporting material through the available application fields. FarmerMind reviews business legitimacy and content. A published profile receives its own public FarmerMind address.

A private company workspace

Follow application and review information, see membership state and access recorded website-click reporting for your published company. The current report counts all-time stored outbound website-click events, including repeats. It does not measure unique people, inquiries, sales, or Desktop and Android reach.

Four membership choices after approval

Choose an eligible 90-day trial followed by USD $19.99 monthly or USD $239.88 annually, or skip the trial and pay the selected amount at checkout. Plans renew until canceled; annual plans bill yearly. Submission does not purchase a plan or start the trial. Wix checkout shows the applicable terms and taxes before confirmation.

Clear limits and publication status

Company service areas are descriptive, not automated audience targeting. Membership does not guarantee exposure, ranking, clicks, inquiries or sales. Company approval, membership, public website publication and Desktop or Android release are separate. A publication schedule must be confirmed.

Connect with FarmerMind

Explore company participation | Visit farmermind.ai
Kofi Kwarteng, Founder & CEO | San Antonio, Texas
info@farmermind.ai | +1 252 465 3013

Version 4.0. Product-specific instructions, checkout terms and the linked policies govern. Agricultural outputs support decisions; they do not guarantee outcomes.